

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE PREVENTION MATTERS.

#YouMatterBeCounted

No matter what we look like or where we are from, everyone should have the resources they need to thrive and the ability to shape their communities. The U.S. Census determines how money and power are assigned by counting how many people there are to serve in each community, city, and state. Every person has the right to make their voice heard and ensure that our family, our neighbors, and our communities have the resources they need.

In Ohio, there is more than $33 billion dollars in federal funding on the line for public programs, including funding for the Violence Against Women Act and the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act, which directly support survivors and victims of domestic violence through survivor advocacy and legal services.

Freedom from violence is foundational to the health, safety, and economic security of women and families. By taking the census, you are helping the services you care about get the funding they need to serve and support our families and communities.
